

Eliminating the Fear of Taking Risks

for executives, team leaders, and team members

problems solved

- ✓ Inability to Achieve Goals
- ✓ Fear of Having Ideas Shut Down
- ✓ Lack of Group Effort
- ✓ Loss of “What Might Have Been”
- ✓ Boardroom “Bullying”
- ✓ “Better Off Saying/Doing Nothing” Attitude

benefits

- + Creative Collaboration
- + Positive Organizational Atmosphere
- + Understanding What is Best for the Organization as a Whole
- + Elimination of Fear and Worry
- + Increased Faith and Trust in Each Other
- + A Healthy and Prosperous Organization

how we do it

Teams will learn that in many circumstances risks need to be taken and all ideas should be heard. After a series of specifically chosen activities and exercises, team members will be broken into groups to implement the skills learned by taking on a real life situation and realizing that it's never about “standing outside the fire...” but having the courage to take the risks most people are afraid to take, and seeing the outstanding benefits that this approach can bestow upon them and their organization as a whole.

These workshops come in segments of 2 hours, 3.5 hours (half day), and 6 hours (full day) depending on group size and goals.
